Washed-up celebrities Bryce (John Beard) and Vanessa (Sara Pfantz) show up at the chapel for their wedding, which they hope will drum up some press coverage.

Verona Area Community Theater put on four shows of its production of "Four Weddings and an Elvis" this weekend.

The production will also have a four-show run this week Feb. 20-22, at the VACT building, 103 Lincoln St.

The show, featuring three couples who show up at Sandy's (Sara Ward-Cassady) Las Vegas wedding chapel to tie the knot in a hilarious fashion.

Those wedding couples include Bev (Liz Nickels) and Stan (Curt Hanke), who get married to seek revenge on their exes; aging stars Vanessa (Sara Pfantz) and Bryce (John Beard) who are looking for publicity; gentle post office worker Martin (Greg Stravinski) and ex-con Fiona (Julia Fure) who attempts to tie the knot before police show up; and Sandy's own fifth wedding.

Other characters include Elvis impersonator John, played by Scott Wieland, Lou, portrayed by Tom Arnol, and Fist, who is played by Paul Carlson.

Center, minister Lou (Tom Arnol) tries to remember what he saw Vanessa (Sara Pfantz) and Bryce (John Beard) act in before without much luck.

From left, Stan (Curt Hanke) and Bev (Liz Nickels) imagine the face of their exes, who are getting married next weekend, after they discover the two ran off to Las Vegas to married before them.

Bev (Liz Nickels) gets emotional as Stan leaves her at the altar for his ex-wife, who begged him to come back after she watched the live-stream of their nuptials.
